

PRETTY GIRL VICTIM OF POISON MYSTERY; FOUND DYING IN ROOM

Police Believe Arsenic Killed
Young Woman—Identity
Not Revealed.

The police are trying to-day to unravel the mystery that surrounds both the identity and the death of an attractive young woman who died in Flower Hospital last night, two hours after she was taken there from a rooming house at No. 35 West Fifty-second street.

Detectives from the West Forty-seventh street station, who at once began an investigation, believe the girl died from arsenical poisoning, but a thorough search of her room failed to disclose any bottles or even glass that could have contained the drug. Nor were there any letters or papers to give a clue to her identity.

The girl, who was about twenty years old, was known as Miss Irene Reed and for some time had been working in a restaurant at Broadway and Thirty-second street. Mrs. Reed, who runs the house where she lived, intimates to the police that Reed was not the young woman's real name.

Mrs. Reed said she had heard the girl say her home was in Newark, N. J., and that she had a daughter there, but when she was only fifteen years old. For several days, she said, Miss Reed had appeared unusually reticent, though apparently she was in the best of health.

The police are puzzled by the peculiar action of a woman who called at the Reed home and inquired after Miss Reed shortly after the girl had been found ill. Later the same woman visited the hospital and inquired about the girl's condition.

Mrs. Reed told the police Miss Reed had lived with her since May, always appearing cheerful and had many friends, both men and women, who visited her.

$5,000 GEMS IN SHIRT STOLEN AT NEWPORT

Louis Bruguiere Robbed of Stud and Links While A. G. Vanderbilt's Guest.

NEWPORT, Aug. 25.—Louis Bruguiere has been robbed of his famous enormous sapphire shirt stud and cuff links. The gems, said to be worth $5,000, were stolen at the dinner and dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt on Sunday night. A sensation was caused among the summering society folk to-day when the robbery became known. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt left their place, Oakland Farm, early yesterday unaware of the theft.

Mr. Bruguiere had intended to make a change of clothing during the dinner and the dance and his valet had put his big sapphire stud and the links in a shirt with the other clothes in a bag in the Bruguiere automobile. When the time came to make the change, the shirt was missing. To prevent upsetting the dance of the confusion that would have followed an announcement of the theft, Mr. Bruguiere said nothing of his loss then. He reported the robbery to the police yesterday.
